Message from the Head

---

I am delighted to share with you the outcome of a recent church inspection, referred to by schools as 'SIAMS'. Since we were last inspected six years ago, the criteria for the such inspections have changed dramatically - a 'toolkit' portfolio had to be developed to share with the inspector. Although delightful, our inspector was really rigorous yet has recognised some of the strengths of the school.

The highlights of the report include:

- Recognition that the values of 'love and respect' underpin all that we do at school. I reckon that if we show this to each other, our community will be harmonious and those interviewed expressed that it is a 'happy school'
- Evidence that respect extends to tolerance for all belief systems and that we are seen to be inclusive of all comers

What I'm not sure is evident, in the report, is that there is no coercion related to Christianity or prayer - I consider this to be really important. Children always have the opportunity to have moments of reflection or pray in 'assemblies' - we endeavour to teach children to respect the choices of others, which is part of our ethos. Nevertheless, we are pleased that we provide children with times when they can learn about Christian values (regarded by most as a good moral code). Equally, children have time to pause in the day to 'talk to God' if they so wish.

If you would like any clarification of the report, you are most welcome to discuss it with me.

Best wishes,

Fiona

New staff

---

Although we are extremely sad to be losing Sally Goodman from Rother Class, we are delighted to announce that Lettie Langley will be joining us after the half-term holiday. She comes with plenty of experience of working with children, especially Early Years - she comes highly recommended. We look forward to welcoming her to the staff.

Young Voices

---

Today our Young Voices choir will be performing at O2, following weeks of rehearsal. Thanks go to Cathy Day who has encouraged the children to practice so they can enjoy this wonderful opportunity. We look forward to reporting back the events of the day.

Sharing assembly - Batafon Arts

Please do keep the time free to join us for the sharing assembly on 2nd March when we will be enjoying the sound of African drumming. Some of the children will be performing traditional dances, learned in a workshop during the day. Working with Batafon is reported to be one of many children's favourite days at Harting School, so it's well worth stopping by. This is an assembly where it will be hard to sit still - all welcome!

Author visit

An author, Gill Medway, will be discussing her writing with the older children on 2nd March. She will be bringing a few copies of her book 'Oscar Temple and the Yesterday Tree' with her to sell. If your child is keen to purchase a copy, she suggests they bring £5 - she will be signing them as well as book plates, should you wish to buy a copy through Amazon instead.

Sally Goodman's leaving book

---

We are trying to gather messages from families who have been touched by Sally's kindness and expertise whilst working at Harting school. She has been at the school for a couple years short of two decades so it would be lovely to share your thoughts. Sally is due to leave in a week's time so if you'd like to add something, please pop into the school office where you are welcome to write your good wishes.

Texts from school to parents

The questionnaire responses to the governors were really positive. There were, however, a few helpful comments that have made me think. One of them was that text messages often do not have a context to them, which I am sure is true. We are making every effort to provide such background in all our communications but I wanted parents to realise that the text service has a limited number of characters for us to use. This means that texts can come over as abrupt. We have considered sending a series of texts but this might produce fragmented messages with pieces missing and slow down the whole process. Please bear with us when we text you - we do try our best. Sometimes I have to cull words or find the shortest word I can, if it is me sending them, and please can be really hard to fit in!

Teaching careers

---

If you are considering teaching, the two fliers attached may be of interest.

'Fright Night'

---

Tony Newton and the Harting Players are performing this Friday evening in the Roundhouse. This promises to be fun and the playlets are usually entertaining. The performances will start at 6.45 pm - do come along if you can.

PTFA

The next meeting will be at The White Hart on Tuesday, 6th February (9am). Please do make it if you can.
